Digitalisation

We move forward so that nothing stops you

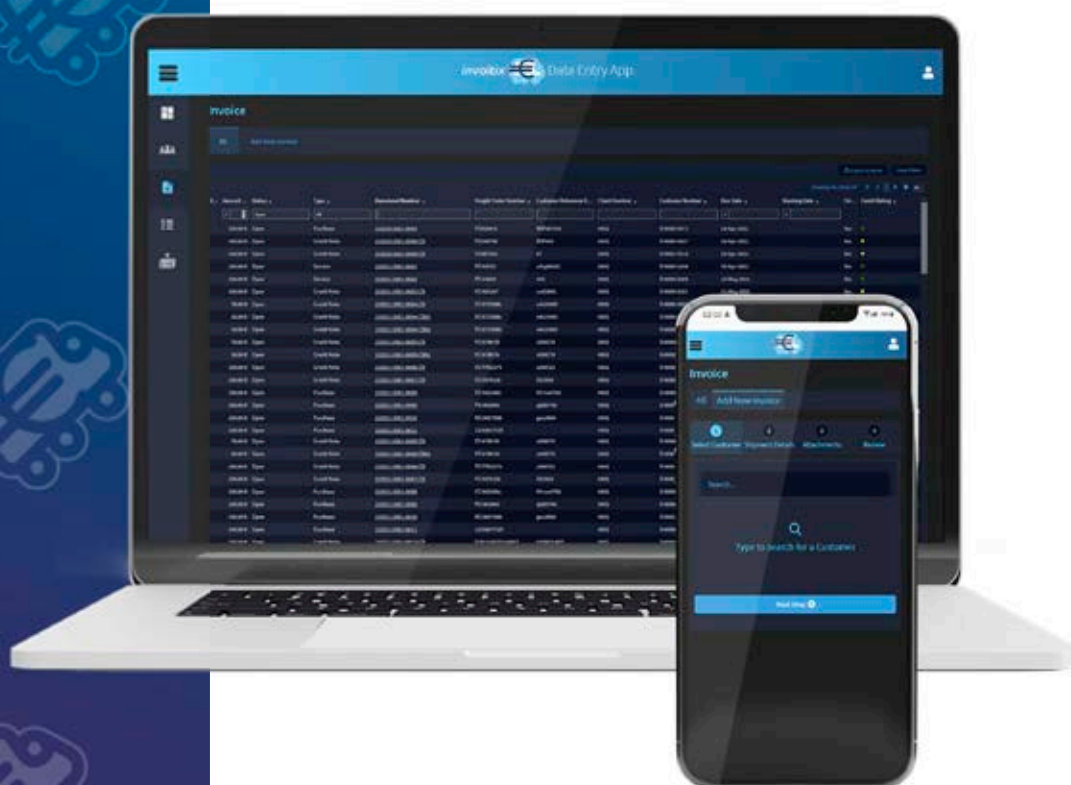

We create and develop invoitix applications so you can access them anywhere with Internet access. From a computer, tablet or a smartphone, users can find the information and services they need quickly and easily.

For example, as soon as you make the delivery, you upload the packing slip to our online platform. We then generate and send an invoice to your client and pay you in advance within the next 48 hours. With no further delay.

That has always been our goal

To get rid of all the barriers hindering the growth of logistics companies. From the very beginning, we created a cloud-based application accessible to all our clients.

We have just automated our invoice process, translating our team's expertise to algorithms, thereby increasing the efficiency of our workflow and reducing the overall management of risk inherent in the management of receivables.
